GeoThermal & Conventional HVAC Tax Credits, Rebates & Financing Offers

Geothermal Tax Credits

An exciting new tax credit is now available for home and commercial building owners who install geothermal heating and cooling systems through the Energy Improvement and Extension Act of 2008 (H.R. 1424). H.R. 1424 offers a onetime tax credit of 30% of the total investment for homeowners who install residential ground loop or ground water geothermal heat pumps. A credit of 10% of the total investment is also available (no maximum) for a commercial system installation.

To qualify, the systems must meet or exceed EnergyStar requirements and be installed after December 31, 2007. While units installed in 2008 are subject to a $2,000 cap on the credit, units installed from 2009 through 2016 can take advantage of the full credit. Owners can file for the credit by completing the Renewable Energy Credits subsection on their tax return forms for 2008. For taxpayers that are subject to the Alternative Minimum Tax, they can claim the credit on their taxes for the following year. No proof of purchase will be required; however, in case of an audit, owners are encouraged to keep a detailed invoice of their purchase on file. The contractor who sold and installed the product should list the purchase as a "Geothermal Heat Pump" on the invoice and that it "Exceeds requirements of Energy Star program currently in effect".

The tax credit is available through December 31, 2016. Consult your local tax professional for advice on taking advantage of the tax credit, as this announcement is not intended as a recommendation or endorsement of any financial strategy.

Mystic Pointe 100-200

Sales Associate Matt Cicchella giving Barry Davis a "walk-thru" of the system

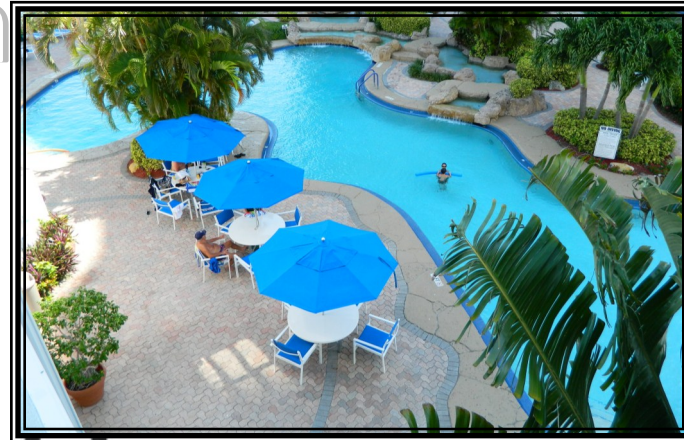

From October of last year to May 30 of this year we have saved approximately $45,000.00 that would have been used to pay for our gas. We just recently purchased new furniture for our pool with this savings and you know how beautiful it looks. We expect to save $60,000 this year due to the GeoThermal system. The savings will be used to make other important and needed improvements to our recreational facilities. Symbiont is a great company and does a phenomenal job of making the transfer painless for the management and the staff. Their workmen are professional and do a beautiful job. If you would like to see our installation and the most beautiful pool in Aventura, just come on by.
